HUSBAND SHOT HIS WIFE

THEN HE ATTEMPTED SUICIDE
BY SHOOTING HIMSELF IN THE MOUTH.

JAMES PRUITT, LABORER, WAS JEALOUS

Woman Was Lying in Bed When Bullet Was Fired Into Her Temple
—Chances Against Pruitt—
She May Recover.

James Pruitt, a laborer, aged about 35 years, attempted to murder his wife and then probably fatally injured himself with a No. 22-calibre revolver at their home, just north of the plant of the M. M. Stevenson Packing company, at 4:45 o'clock this morning.

Both patients are at the City hospital, the former having a more favorable chance for recovery.

Pruitt had accused his wife of infidelity, and had told her so frequently.

He arose at 4:30 o'clock this morning and secured the weapon. After dressing, he returned to his bedroom, and as his wife lay asleep on the bed fired point blank at her.

The ball entered her head one-half inch below the right temple. It passed into the nasal cavity, where it became lodged. Mrs. Pruitt was awakened instantly, and, screaming, ran from the house to the home of Henry Ford, a neighbor.

As she left the residence Pruitt turned the gun on himself. The ball entered his mouth, passing through the roof. It became lodged in the brain.

Drs. H. L. and K. R. Barnum were summoned and dressed the wounds, and two hours later ordered both patients removed to the hospital.

Pruitt is unconscious, and is not expected to live. Mrs. Pruitt is conscious and may recover, although the chances are said to be against her.

REALIZED $30 AT SOCIAL

Had a Satisfactory Attendance, Despite the Rain.

The Woman's Home Mission of the Fifth Street M. E. church, South, realized the neat sum of $30 from the social given at the new church parsonage on West Fourth street between the hours of 3 and 10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and night.

The social was one of the best attended ever given in this city, despite the rain, guests arriving early in the afternoon and kept coming until the supper hour, after which many more guests arrived.

This is the first event of the kind ever given at the new church parsonage.

HARVEY D. DOW INJURED

Thrown From His Buggy While Returning From Georgetown.

Prosecuting Attorney H. D. Dow, who last Sunday night was painfully injured in an accident on the Marshall road, is able to be out, although he is not yet able to attend to his legal duties.

Mr. Dow was returning to town from Georgetown, and was seated in his buggy, with his brother, Ralph Dow, riding horseback behind. An automobile occupied by Edward Nicholson and party approached from the rear, frightening Ralph's horse.

The animal made a dash forward and jumped against Harvey's vehicle, overturning it and throwing Mr. Dow to the road. His right leg and right arm were badly bruised, while his back also suffered a severe contusion.

Postmaster Dies, Aged 80 Years.

Charles Steinbach, for many years a merchant, and the postmaster of Florence, Morgan county, died at Versailles Tuesday. He was 80 years old.

FRANK WRIGHT IS HELD

ON THE CHARGE OF HAVING ASSAULTED POSTMASTER AT LONGWOOD.

IT OCCURRED ON FRIDAY NIGHT, JUNE 11

Object Is Believed to Have Been Robbery—The Accused Is in Jail in Default of a Five Hundred Dollar Bond.

Frank Wright was arraigned before Peace Justice F. W. Clark today, charged with having made an assault on Postmaster William Hoffman at Longwood Friday night, June 11, with the intention of robbery.

E. B. Powell represented the prisoner and H. D. Dow conducted the state's case.

After the introduction of evidence Wright was held to the action of the criminal court in the sum of $500. He was unable to furnish bond and was remanded to jail.

During the hearing a Mrs. Hicks, one of the witnesses, testified that Wright had been at her home on the morning following the assault.

All the other witnesses testified that Wright was at the home of his brother-in-law.

At the conclusion of the trial Mrs. Hicks began crying, and told the authorities that she was mistaken, as Wright had not been at her home at the time she said.

BOTH DOGS ARE NOW DEAD

They Put Up the Fiercest Fight Ever Seen in Sedalia.

John Hill, a laundry wagon driver, lost a $35 English terrier bulldog at his squab ranch, west of town, Tuesday afternoon.

Death resulted from a fierce fight with a bulldog owned by Cecil Brunk, last Saturday, during which Mr. Hill's dog's head was badly lacerated, death resulting from the wounds.

Will J. Crawford was passing and witnessed the fight, which lasted more than an hour, and was the fiercest canine engagement ever seen in Sedalia.

It was only after Mr. Crawford had suggested dashing a couple of buckets of water in the faces of the animals that they were separated, each canine looking as if it had been run through a threshing machine.

WILL GIVE A DINING

In Celebration of Fourth Marriage Anniversary.

Chester E. Reid, a clerk at the Missouri Pacific freight house, and wife, will celebrate their fourth wedding anniversary Friday, and in honor of the occasion will give a family dinner at their home, 903 South Vermont avenue, at 6 o'clock that evening.

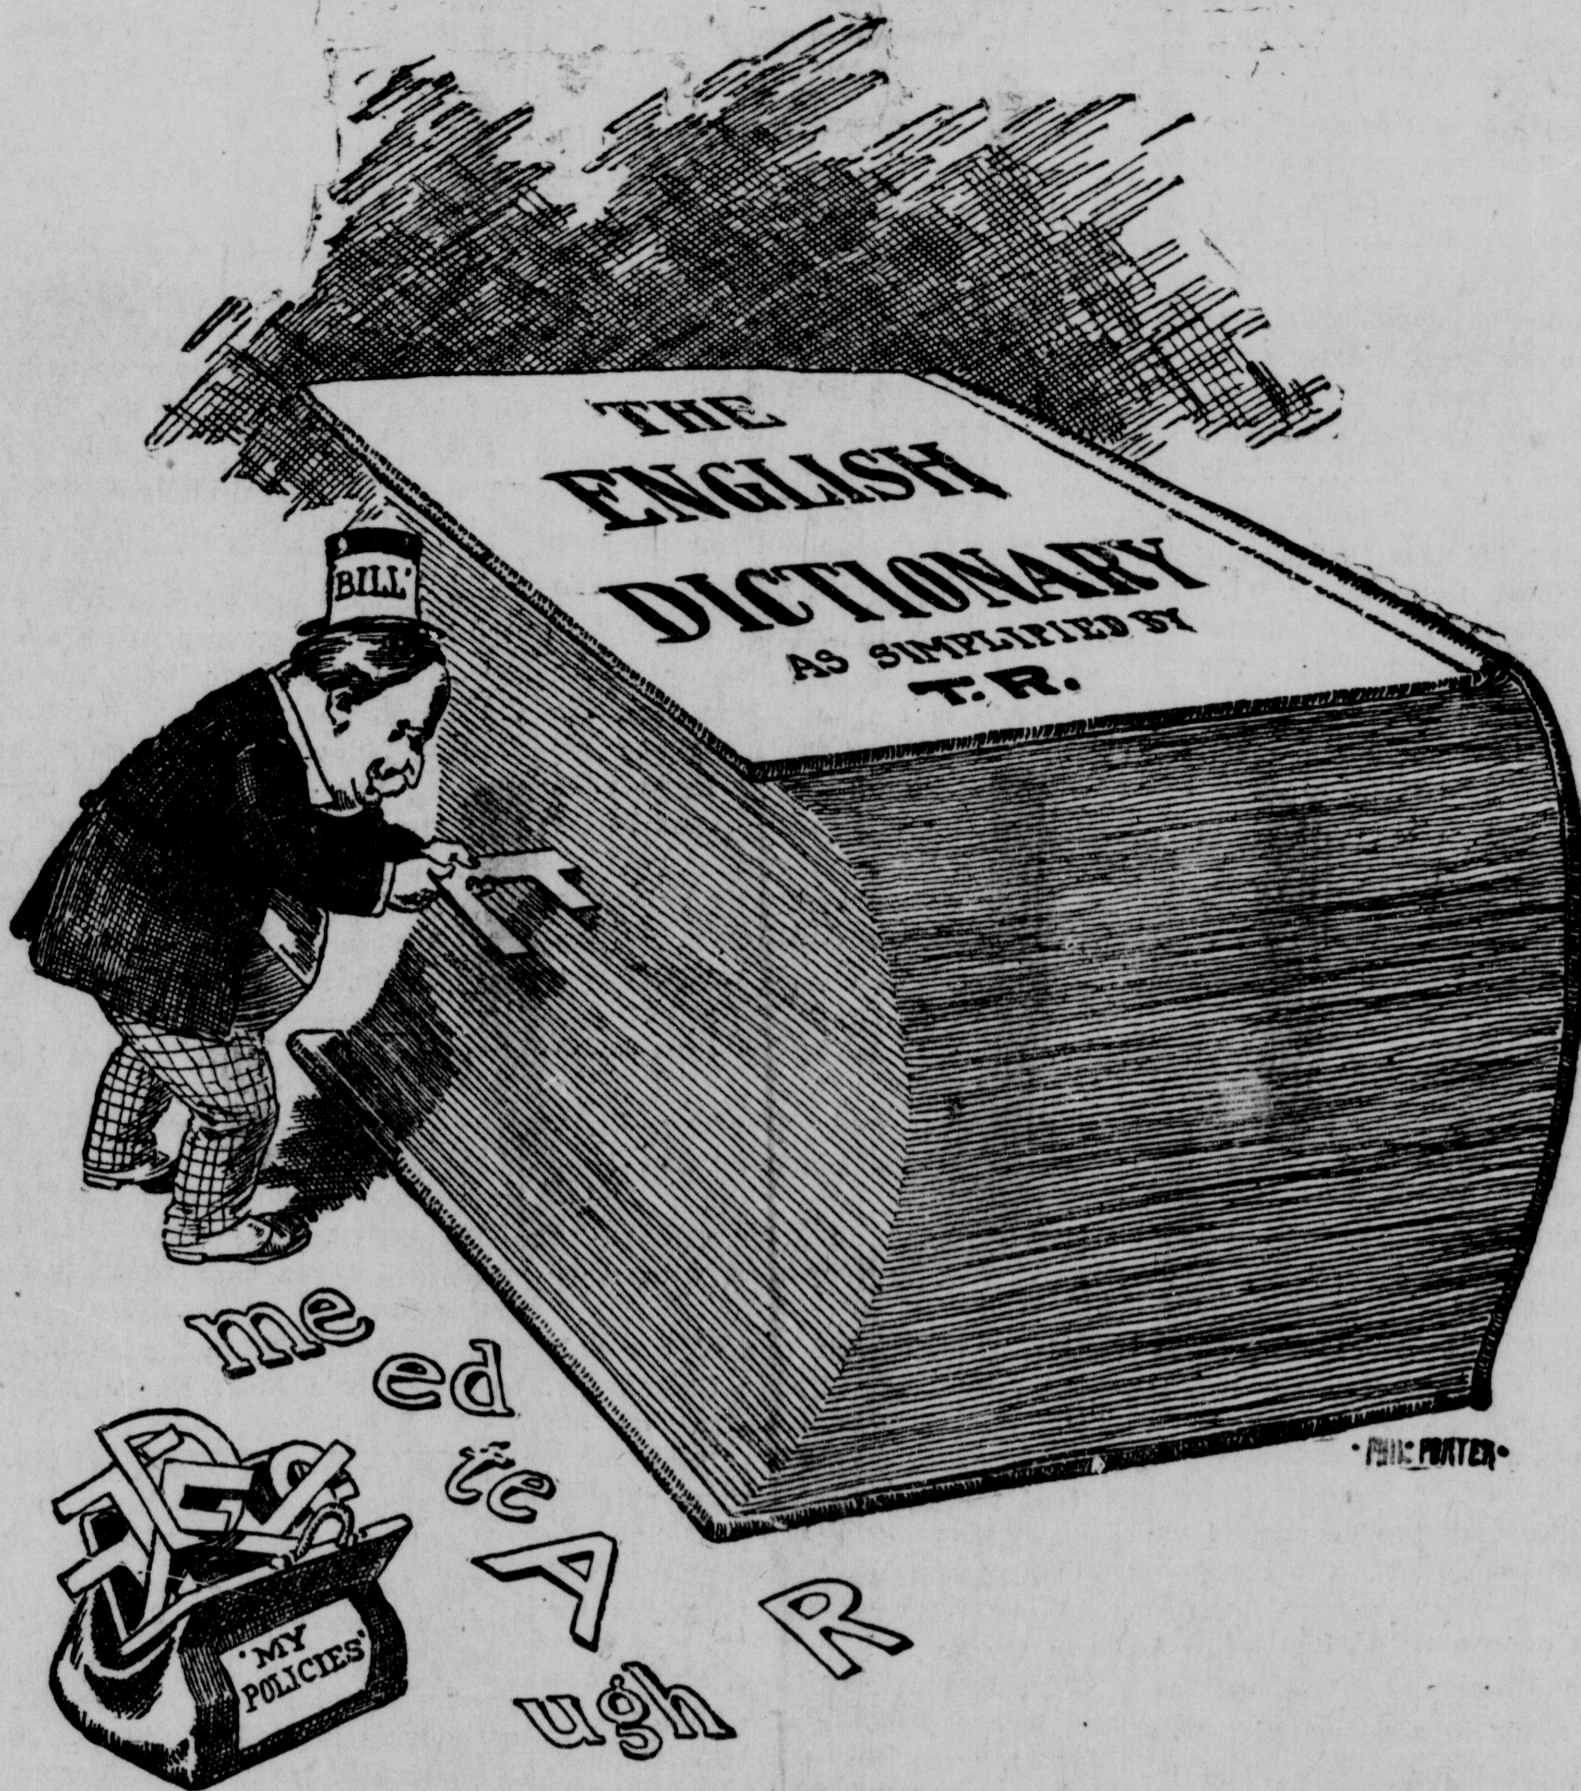

Mrs. Reid was formerly Miss Anna Sims. The marriage occurred at Strasburg, Mo., and they have one child, Mary Beth Reid, a bright tot of three years.

The Class Had a Picnic.

The Sunday school class of A. J. White, of the East Broadway Christian church, consisting of more than twenty young men, enjoyed a picnic on Flat creek, at the Stephens ford, Tuesday.

The party left the city at 8 o'clock a. m., and spent the greater portion of the day fishing, catching enough of the finny tribe for dinner and supper, returning to town about 8 o'clock p. m.

TWO GREATEST PACERS

THEY WILL BE SEEN AT THE MISSOURI STATE FAIR HERE NEXT OCTOBER.

RECORDS OF MINOR HEIR AND DAN PATCH

The Latter Has Lowered the World's Record Fourteen Times—Great Things Are Expected of Minor Heir Here.

The world's two greatest pacers will be seen at the Missouri state fair in this city the first week in October. M. E. Harrison, of Minneapolis, furnishes the Democrat-Sentinel with the following in regard to the animals:

In one season Minor Heir broke all performance records for "green" pacers. He tied the world's race record held by Star Pointer and was the fifth horse in the world to pace a mile under two minutes.

He paced nine heats in the average time of 2:00.9.

Dan Patch was never beaten in a race. He now holds six world's records. He has paced:

1 mile in	1:55
1 mile in	1:55 1/2
Half mile in	1:56
10 miles averaging	1:56
20 miles averaging	1:57
31 miles averaging	1:58
62 miles averaging	1:59

Dan has lowered the world's record 14 times.

What will they do? This is problematical. Dan Patch has been a world champion for years. Minor Heir was "green" last season and if he develops as predicted, Dan will have to fight for his laurels. The younger horse will be given every chance to equal or lower the champion's records. He will be given more than that, a chance to beat the unbeaten Dan in a race.

M. W. Savage has already closed contracts for the appearance of these world champions in race exhibitions on various tracks. These contests will be honest tests of strength, gameness and speed. They are being looked forward to and will be watched with intense interest by horsemen and horse lovers all over the world.

For the first time in history two two-minute horses will struggle for supremacy in a series of races.

For the first time in years the championship of the horse world will be in doubt.

Mrs. McNeil Fell Down Stairs.
Mrs. I. N. McNeil, wife of the plumber, fell down the front porch steps at her home Tuesday afternoon, receiving a two-inch gash over her right eye. Dr. Charles McNeil was summoned and dressed the injury. She is resting nicely today.

Man Cut Wife's and Own Throat.
Hutchinson, Kan., June 23.—Chas. Bell, a lineman of Newton, Kan., cut his wife's throat here today and then slashed his own neck. The woman will die, but Bell may recover. Mrs. Bell had left her husband because of his cruelty.

"CHINK" STILL AT LARGE

POLICE CONTINUE BAFLED AS TO WHEREABOUTS OF ELSIE SIGEL'S SLAYER.

CONFESSION EXTORTED FROM PARTNER

Chung Sin Tells Officials Part of the Details of Atrocious Crime—If Authorities Have Clue to Leon Are Keeping Still.

New York, June 23.—It is reported here that Leon Ling has been arrested in or near Johnston, Penn., and that a confession has been made. The report, however, can not be verified.

Roommate Tells Story.

New York, June 23.—Leon Ling, the Chinese murderer of Elsie Sigel, is still a fugitive from justice, and if the statement of Chung Sin, his roommate, made last night, has given the authorities any tangible clue to his hiding place, the police have not made it known.

Further details of how Chung saw Leon strangle the girl became known today. Chung told the police that hearing a noise in an adjoining room about noon Wednesday, June 9, he peered through the keyhole and saw Elsie on the bed with Leon bending over her. To obtain a better view he mounted a chair and looked through the transom, when he saw Leon forcing a handkerchief into the girl's mouth.

He says he became frightened and went down stairs to the restaurant, and remained there until called by Leon, who asked him to help rope a trunk, which was afterwards found to contain the body.

TO UPHOLD SUNDAY LAW

ACTING GOVERNOR HUMPHREY WILL NOT GRANT ANY CONCESSIONS.

HE STANDS WITH GOVERNOR H. S. HADLEY

German-American Alliance of St. Louis, 40,000 Strong, Asks "Privilege of Enjoying Personal Liberty Next Sunday."

Jefferson City, Mo., June 23.—Acting Governor George W. Humphrey received a telegram yesterday, signed by the "Consolidated Personal Liberty League of St. Louis," asking in the name of "40,000 members of the German-American Alliance of St. Louis" if the members of this organization may be granted the privilege of enjoying their personal liberty next Sunday.

The acting governor paid no direct attention to the telegram and did not answer it. He was evidently of the opinion that it was intended to bolster up the meeting of Mayor Rose in St. Louis, and that the German-American alliance as an organization was not responsible for the telegram.

He said last night that Governor Hadley would no doubt be home before next Sunday, but even should he be detained, his policy of strictly enforcing the Sunday laws against dram-shops would not be disturbed.

In fact, the acting governor intimated quite plainly in a conversation that he was entirely in sympathy with the Sunday "lid," and that if he were the governor of the state, in fact, no concessions with regard to the Sunday law would be granted.

GAVE A HOUSE PARTY

Miss Alline Bouldin Was at Home to Young People.

The beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bouldin, six miles north of town, was the scene of much merry making during the past week, when Miss Alline, Mr. and Mrs. Bouldin's eldest daughter, entertained a few of her friends at a house party.

The guests drove out to the Bouldin home Saturday afternoon, and Sunday Mrs. Bouldin entertained the young folks at a 1 o'clock dinner.

In the evening they enjoyed a ride to Hughesville to attend the children's day exercises at the Baptist church; and Monday Mrs. John McCurdy, assisted by her daughter, Miss Vivian, gave a 6 o'clock dinner for them.

Tuesday morning the young people left for home, voting Miss Alline a most charming hostess.

The following boys and girls, chaperoned by Garnett Hopkins and Miss Lizzie Allison, enjoyed the hospitality of the Bouldin home: Laura Allison, Marianna Bouldin Vivian McCurdy, Kathryn Elliott, David Powell, Joe Evans, Theodore Easton, Berry Elliott and Dawson McCurdy.

Mrs. Boyd at Maywood.

Mrs. Mary Boyd, of 415 South Engineer avenue, is a patient at Maywood hospital, under the care of Dr. E. A. Wood.

GOV. HADLEY WRITES A STRONG LETTER

The Drugging and Attacking of Young Girl, Etta May Hayden, at Creve Coeur Lake, Calls for Stringent Measures Now.

St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—Regarding the attack on Etta May Hayden, 17 years old, at Creve Coeur lake, a week ago, as the climax of lawlessness in St. Louis county, Governor H. S. Hadley, in a letter to Prosecuting Attorney Shackelford, virtually announces his intention of calling out the state militia to preserve order there.

The letter from the governor inclosed a complaint from a St. Louis woman telling of the attack on the Hayden girl. Governor Hadley declared he had received complaints of similar occurrences in the county.

The Hayden girl was drugged and attacked after drinking with two unidentified men near the dancing pavilion at the lake. She was found late Sunday night and was unconscious until Monday.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

That of Calvary Episcopal Church on Flat Creek.

The teachers and children of Calvary Episcopal church Sunday school enjoyed their annual picnic at the Dodropinn, on Flat creek, Tuesday afternoon.

Between 1 and 2 o'clock more than three score persons left the city on two large hay wagons furnished by William M. Rector, and made the trip to the creek.

The picnicers carried their supper with them, and enjoyed it to the fullest, in spite of the rain that had dampened their ardor and also a portion of the provisions.

The party returned to town at 8 o'clock, well pleased with their outing.

WILL WED THIS EVENING

Mr. John Stahlhut and Miss Ilah Anderson by Rev. Caskey.

The marriage of John Stahlhut, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stahlhut, of south of town, to Miss Ilah Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson, of one and one-half miles south of Flat creek, will occur at the home of the young lady's parents at Valda at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Rev. J. F. Caskey, pastor of the Fifth Street M. E. church, South, will officiate, in the presence of relatives and friends, including County Treasurer L. V. Ware.

Immediately after the wedding a sumptuous country supper will be served, and the bridal couple will go to housekeeping at once.

"CUBS" ORDER THEIR SUITS

Through the Knight-Marshall Hardware Company.

The management of the Sedalia Cubs baseball team last night ordered, through the Knight-Marshall Hardware company, eleven uniforms for the members of the team.

The suits will be gray in color, with maroon colored socks and white stripes, and maroon colored bls on the caps. The initials, "S. C.," will be sewed on the shirts.

IS HIS CONFESSION TRUE?

A CONVICT IN JEFFERSON CITY TELLS OF CRIMES IN INTERCEPTED LETTER.

SEVERAL BRUTAL MURDERS INCLUDED

Gives Names of the Victims and Dates of the Killings—Police in St. Joseph Trying the Verify the Statements Made.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 23.—An intercepted letter written at the Jefferson City penitentiary and signed, "Wm. J. Murphy," confesses to several murders committed in St. Joseph by the writer, according to word received here today from the warden of the prison.

Murphy was sent to the penitentiary from St. Joseph for abusing his daughter. In a letter the writer says he killed William Mignery, a wealthy St. Joseph contractor, January 1, 1908, and Roy Oden, a butcher, some time previous to that date, and enumerates other killings for which he claims the credit that heretofore have been mysteries.

The police are trying to verify the statements made.

PLAYED 13-INNING GAME

Warsaw Defeated Smithton Team by Score of 4 to 3.

The Smithton ball club played the Warsaw team on the grounds of the latter this forenoon, and met defeat in a 13-inning game, the score being: Warsaw, 4; Smithton, 3.

The game was one of the best ever played in Benton county. Sam Duvenick, formerly with the Flower-Barnett Dry Goods Co., pitched for Warsaw, while Jim Gunder did the twirling for Smithton.

This afternoon the Smithton boys are playing at Cole Camp.

Saturday, July 3, Cole Camp will play at Smithton, and Monday, July 5, Smithton will play at Cole Camp.

MRS. TUCKER MUCH BETTER

Regained Consciousness and Recovery Is Anticipated.

Mrs. A. J. Tucker's condition today is materially improved.

She recovered consciousness at 7 o'clock last evening, and has remained so since that hour. The symptoms of concussion of the brain are gradually disappearing, and the attending physician, Dr. W. J. Ferguson, attributes the occasional irrationality to the severe shock sustained by the accident.

A message from her bedside this afternoon is that the chances for her recovery are bright.

ANOTHER MINE HORROR

Three Known Dead, Many Injured and 65 Thought Perished.

Wearum, Penn., June 23.—As the result of the explosion in a mine of the Lackawanna Coal and Coke Co., here today, three miners are known to be dead, six fatally injured and twenty-five seriously hurt, while it is feared that 65 men entombed in the workings must also be dead. The mine is burning fiercely in several places, effectually preventing any rescue work.

Last Meeting of Tuesday Club.

The last meeting for this summer of the Tuesday club was held at the home of Mrs. C. I. Wilson, 1110 West Seventh street, Tuesday afternoon. Bridge whist furnished amusement for four tables of players. Mrs. G. H. Scruton won the club prize, a silver fork, and Miss Nina Harris the guest prize, a handkerchief case. Refreshments of strawberry ice cream and cake were served.

Cable Struck By Lightning.

The Bell Telephone Co.'s cable on South Kentucky street, which serves some fifty subscribers, was struck by lightning yesterday afternoon and put out of commission.

Men were put to work immediately, and within a short time all subscribers will again be connected up and in service.

COMING HOME?

Back to Sedalia, the beautiful Queen City, and visit again the scenes of years gone by. The Home Coming reunion will be held October 2, 3, 4 and 5, during the week of the Missouri state fair.

The semi-centennial of the founding of the city will be celebrated, and a grand welcome will be extended to all who gather to commemorate the event.

There are ex-Sedalians everywhere, but they will all be here again at the Home Coming.

The Weather Forecast.

Continued warm and generally fair weather, except probably local thunder storms tonight or Thursday.

IT'S A GOOD IDEA.

The Convention hall fund could be applied to no better purpose or one more in keeping with the original idea of the donors than to erect arches throughout the business district for use during state fair week and other occasions of public import.

The Convention hall idea is dead for all time. Since the Missouri legislature enacted the primary law no great political meetings are held in the state, and no other conventions that are likely to be held in Sedalia would tax the capacity of the larger churches or either of the opera houses.

With the need therefore of a building of the sort contemplated by those who started the fund passed, it would seem to be the part of true wisdom to use the money on hand for something that will advance the city and do the greatest good in a public way.

This would be in thorough accord with the spirit of the original undertaking, for it was for Sedalia's advancement that the fund was first started, and it was with that idea alone that those who have from time to time added to it have worked.

Nothing better, nothing that would contribute more to the city's credit, nothing that would give her greater fame at home and abroad as an up-to-date community could be thought of than the present project, and the plans now advanced should by all means be brought to full fruition.

At present the money is doing no one any good. Let's put it to work and push Sedalia forward as the greatest and most enterprising state fair city in the country.

REACHING THE FOOD LIMIT.

In his address at Seattle, James J. Hill pointed out that the exportable surplus of wheat had decreased from 120,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels, with the time in prospect when there would be no surplus, unless production should be increased.

The limits of food production have been repeatedly foreshadowed, and systematic efforts have been made to increase both the acreage and the yield per acre. One feature, usually overlooked, however, is that the consumption of wheat has increased per capita, leading inevitably to the conclusion that the standard of living is higher and that there are by no means so many underfed people as in years past.

Another question connected with the food supply which has attracted little attention has a double significance. It is the problem of getting more sustenance out of the production than we now have. There is entirely too much food waste in American home life. It causes an excessive demand for food stuffs and increases the cost of living without returning any equivalent.

It was not so long ago that the "book farmer," as the agricultural school professor was called, was laughed at. Today his advice is being sought by every progressive tiller of the soil. The schools of domestic science have the same work to do in their field and are just beginning to be appreciated. The woman who cooks "just as mother used to do" may learn that there are ways of getting more nutrition out of food products and of utilizing what formerly went to waste.

Indirect methods of increasing the food supply are as important as the direct, for they work a double economy.

THE DRUGGISTS WITHIN THE GATES.

Ancient the recent druggists' convention held in Joplin the Globe of that city has the following:

He doesn't figure much in poetry or panegyric, but his claim for the crowning wreath and the fair bouquet is based on a far finer warrant than that of many a brother in whose name has been unfurled the banner. His time and services are at the disposal of humanity twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. He is adviser, counselor, physician and a host of other useful things. And because he is what he is, and because he has chosen Joplin in which to convene, debate and intersperse the business of the occasion with relaxation and recreation, a fervent wish is extended that he find pleasure and profit in this parliament. We refer to the druggists of Missouri who are now with us.

The druggist is the "father confessor" of the secular world. Into his keeping are entrusted rare confidences and soulful hopes. The magic that transmutes a man of colorless hair to shining gold, or Titian tint, or the dark lustre of the raven's wing lies in his hand. The secret of many a complexion that rivals the bloom of the peach and the white purity of alabaster—he knows, he knows! His contributions to the beauty of life, though without heraldry or acclaim, effect results surpassing beyond the depiction of the masters. No tradesman is our druggist. He is an artist.

Moreover, he is a benefactor. At least, he is such by repute. Tradition has it that in certain periods of drouth, when the necessary accompaniment to the "loaf of bread" is unavailable by reason of the rigorous decrees of the majority, the druggist looms up "the shadow of a great rock in a wearied land." Some such tribute, at least, has been paid to the druggists of Kansas. But whether it was recognition truly earned or was merely the exuberance of Kansas literature, we can not say.

The night cometh, but to the druggist it brings no surcease of toil. Long after the rest of the mercantile world is wrapped in darkness and in silence his lights still blaze and his doors swing open. And, finally, when the world of multitudinous and inarticulate clamor has gone to sleep, the druggist remains within telephone reach of pain or distress.

He fills an important niche in the temple of the day's affairs. And it may be hoped that after the Joplin convention the Missouri druggists' circle of influence will swing through a wider orbit. For by his experience

TWO MORE DAYS TO QUALIFY

For Scotch Two-Ball Tournament at Country Club.

The rain of yesterday afternoon caused a postponement of the qualifying round for the Scotch two-ball team tournament at the Country Club.

It is no warranted so that the qualifying round can be made either today, Thursday or Friday. The player must announce to his partner his intention to play for a qualifying score before starting play.

Only one effort can be made to qualify, but it can be made either of the three days mentioned.

Players should mark their score cards so that the committee will understand it was handed in for the purpose of qualifying.

COLE CAMP ITEMS.

Cole Camp, Mo., June 22.
Business has been dull for the past two weeks. The farmers are too busy to come to town.

The wheat harvest is in full blast. Everybody is cutting wheat, and the crop is very good. The oat and potato crops are fine. Corn looks well. The outlook for a good crop is better than it has been for several years.

R. L. Carson, editor of the Courier, is building a fine dwelling.

Louis Grother, circuit clerk of Boone county, is building another fine brick building, to be used as a hotel.

Mrs. Berger and daughter, Lena, visited at Henry Leuten's last Monday.

Fred Muller, an old citizen of Braunsville, is very sick with dropsy.

John F. Borchers, one of our substantial farmers, of near Clearcreek, is building a fine dwelling on his farm.

Gerd Muller, the stockman, shipped several loads of cattle and hogs to the St. Louis market Monday, and paid our farmers fancy prices for their stock.

John Bruns and two daughters and Henry Kroos and wife, of near Lincoln, were in our city Monday, trading with the merchants.

Henry Tonjes, of Nay, has had his dwelling remodeled, and is now having it painted. Henry Wichmann is doing the carpenter work and Joe Goldkuehler is doing the painting.

Mrs. Rothganger is building an addition to her dwelling. The Eickhoff boys are doing the work.

Rev. Meyer will go to Appleton City Saturday to preach there on Sunday at the mission feast.

The Lutheran mission feast in this district will be held at Lincoln next Sunday. The Rev. Baepier, of Sedalia, will preach in the afternoon.

The Fourth will be celebrated here with a grand picnic on Monday the 5th. A grand display of fireworks will be given at night.

The Book Was Not Stolen.

Probate Judge D. E. Kennedy has been proven the miscreant who disappeared with the city directory belonging to Sheriff M. T. Henderson. Several days ago Judge Kennedy borrowed the book, and thought no more of it until he read in last afternoon's Democrat-Sentinel the announcement of the alleged theft. He returned the book this morning. Now the deputy sheriffs have placed on the outside cover a notice reading as follows, "Please do not take out of office."

The Size of Taft's Vest.

It would naturally be supposed that a woman who knows President Taft as well as Miss Mabel Boardman would have been the right person to select a present for the executive. The "Tafters," that is the party that made the trip with Taft to the Philippines, decided to give the president a watch and chain. Miss Boardman was selected to procure the present.

The watch was a substantial one, as it should be for a man like the president, and the chain was one of the heavy gold link chains which stretches from one vest pocket to another across the front of the wearer.

Before presentation was made one of the "Tafters," Senator Scott of West Virginia, called at the Boardman house and was shown the watch and chain. "Look here, Miss Mabel," remarked the West Virginia senator, "you have entirely miscalculated the length of that chain. I guess you don't know how broad Taft is across the front. Just try it on me," and the senator presented a fairly rotund form and it was found that the watch chain would have stretched like a taut hawser across the front of the president. Upon this measurement five inches were added to the chain in order to make it fit the presidential frontage without causing any inconvenience.

PROGRESS IS RAPID

GOOD WORK BEING DONE IN BEAUTIFYING CAPITAL.

Carefully Arranged Plans, Placed in Capable Hands, Thoughtfully Carried Out—Magnificent Buildings Nearing Completion.

Development according to plan is the order of progress in the national capital. The work of improving the beautiful city on the banks of the Potomac is not going forward in a haphazard, hit-or-miss fashion, but is proceeding along lines carefully thought out by a commission assigned to the duty by authority of congress. This commission had as its chairman Daniel H. Burnham of Chicago, the other members having been Augustus St. Gaudens, Charles McKim and Frederick Law Olmstead. First preparing a sculptured model of the city as it existed in 1902, they then caused to be made a model showing the city as it should be built, according to an ideal plan. The senate committee on the District of Columbia was headed by the late Senator McMillan of Michigan at that time, and had as its secretary Charles H. Moore of Detroit.

In one of the rooms of the magnificent library of congress may be seen the plans of Washington as the commission found it in 1902, and as they hope to have it appear to the generations of the future. And the plan of the city to come is not merely a dream. Already the work is in hand. New boulevards have been laid out, the office buildings for the senators and representatives in congress have been erected, the executive offices of the White House have been completed, the site for the home of the department of commerce and labor has been selected, the national museum is nearing completion, the marble home of the bureau of American republics—the gift of Andrew Carnegie—is building rapidly, the great Union station, the most magnificent as well as the most perfectly appointed railway depot in the world—it cost $25,000,000—is already a tangible entity, while the preliminary plans for many groups of new public buildings, notably that of the bureau of engraving and printing, on which is to be expended $2,000,000, have been approved. Avenues more magnificent than those of which Maj. L'Enfant dreamed are already in their formative state and it will not be many years before the inaugural parades will forsake the great thoroughfares of Pennsylvania avenue and pass from the capitol directly went to the great monument along a boulevard, the like of which has not yet been seen.

The entrance hall to the library of congress, reputed to be the finest marble interior in the world, as even the hypercritical and weariest sightseer into praise. Despite the admonishment of silence, impressed upon all who visit the building, various expressions of admiration escape. Even when not couched in felicitous phrase, they embody genuine appreciation. One woman stood still a long time, noted the magnificent columns, the sculptured capitals, the glow of color in the ceiling decorations, the play of light on polished marble surface—sighed deeply and said solemnly: "Now, this is what I call scrumptious."

MISS LONGAN'S RECITAL

ONE OF MISSOURI'S SWEETEST SINGERS DELIGHTED A LARGE AUDIENCE.

THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH WAS CROWDED

Program Consisted of Eighteen Numbers and Two Encores—Miss Alice V. Brown Was the Accompanist.

Miss Agnes Scott Longan, daughter of Judge and Mrs. George F. Longan, of West Broadway, gave a delightful song recital at the First Christian church last night to a house full of acquaintances and friends.

Miss Longan has just returned from Louisville, Ky., where she has been studying voice for the last two years, with a previous year's training in Chicago. Her voice is a mezzo-soprano of rare range and natural sweetness; this, coupled with her gracious manner and pleasing personality, made all who had heard her on previous occasions impatient to welcome her back again, which was fully demonstrated when she and her accompanist made their appearance.

The program of eighteen numbers and two encores was given from memory, without an instant's hesitation as to words, and with such an accuracy of tone, placement, endurance and control that a brilliant future is predicted by all who heard her.

Tschaikowsky's "Aria" from Jeanne D'Arc probably showed the full capacity of Miss Longan's voice more than any other; the weird "Swan Song" by Grieg, the pathos and sweetness, and the two "Carmen" songs the vivacity and dramatic fullness.

From the well deserved applause during the whole recital it was quite obvious that the audience was playing "all favorites," and were especially pleased with the gracious manner in which she gave the two encores, "If No One Marries Me" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Miss Brown's accompaniment throughout the program deserves especial praise, and also the delightful manner in which she gave her three selections.

Both of the artists of the evening received many tokens of love and appreciation, expressed in flowers, which found their way to the fair girls through little Miss Elizabeth Miller, who fairly tugged the "beauties" in.

Miss Longan was gowned in white empress satin, entrain; the decollete bodice draped with crystal lace and crystal pendants.

Miss Brown, in lavender crepe de chine, princess, semi-decollete, with trimmings of val lace.

Among the house party who have been enjoying the hospitality of the Longan home are two school friends of Miss Longan, Miss Acene Booth, of Columbia, Mo., and Miss Mary Louise Gains, of Kansas City; Mr. and

Heart Strength

Heart strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply nerves, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with Woman's Way.

When a man tells his wife of an increase in his wages she doesn't burst out in congratulations; she has an absent-minded look in her eyes, as if calculating how many yards it will take for a dress she had hitherto felt that she couldn't afford.—Atchison Globe.

was added deputation for the convict at the expiration of his term. That deputation idea struck me as a good thing. If aliens who come to another land are there solely for criminal purposes it is a sensible and prudent policy to compel them to return to their native shores."—Baltimore American.

The Ban on Horseflesh.

It is said that the prejudice which exists against horseflesh rests, to some extent, on a religious basis. The missionaries who converted the Saxons prohibited the consumption of this food, as being reminiscent of heathen sacrifices and feasts. Quatrefage tells that "the Saxons usually celebrated any release into the beliefs of their forefathers by a massacre of the priests and a banquet of horseflesh, both held on the same day." Gregory III. wrote to St. Boniface in 731: "I am told that some of your flock still eat the flesh of the wild horse, and most of them eat the flesh of their own horses when these are killed. Henceforth, most holy brother, this must not be allowed. Use every possible means to abolish this custom, and impose a heavy penalty on all devourers of horseflesh. They are unclean, and their conduct is execrable."

Fad for Collecting Menu Cards.

The emperor of Austria's collection of menu cards is without its equal in the world. Numbering 3,700 examples, it consists of cards used at court banquets on festival occasions, and scarcely a royal house in England is unrepresented. The Austrian ambassadors at the various courts, knowing the emperor's hobby, took every opportunity of collecting for him specimens from all parts of the world. The cards are arranged under the towns from which they date, a shelf in the cabinet being devoted to each capital. One of the most interesting and beautiful of all is the card designed in black marble, with ivory lettering, by a French artist, for the festival given by President Faure in honor of the visit of the czar. A special cabinet is reserved for the menus of banquets given in honor of Bismarck.

College for Turkish Girls.

A national college for women is to be established in Constantinople. The leader of the movement is Ahmed Riza Bey, who is said to be inspired by his sister, who is a well-known Turkish author. A site for the building has been given by the sultan, who is said to be very much in favor of the undertaking. The site is at Foon-dookli. The scope of the college will be discussed soon in parliament, when it is expected that the success of Dr. Mary Mills Patrick as president of the American College for Girls in Constantinople will be used as the great argument in favor of establishing a national institution. The number of high-class Turkish girls attending the American college has greatly increased since the coming in of the new political regime.

"London magistrates and judges have little leniency with malefactors and soak them with much greater severity than is the custom in the United States," said Col. R. D. Grant, a New Orleans lawyer, at the Rennet. Scientific Explanation of Reason Why Children Bite Their Nails and Do Other Seemingly Incomprehensible Things.

Why children bite their nails is one of the smaller problems of nature that from time to time attract the attention of scientists.

Why do babies sprawl and scabble, writhe and squirm in their jerky, weird way? Why have they so many strange ways that other young animals have not? Because an infant is a mental and physical palimpsest.

The ancient Greeks wrote upon sheep skins. Such vellum was so precious that it was washed white with buttermilk and used time and time again, just as we use the slate—but it did not lose its writing. Modern chemistry and photography reproduces and shows the stuff that was writ on these old skin scrolls. A lost fragment from Hesiod or Homer, a hot pagan sigh from Menander or Petronius A. E., or a cool soul breath from Plato again comes to light and light and day.

Such a telltale parchment is called a palimpsest, and man and his mind, eye the great round stalwart electric ghost, this globe itself and all its layers of strata, is such a palimpsest to the searching eye of science.

Bears suck the paw during their winter sleep, and we had some hibernating ancestors, and those not so remote as the cave dwellers, at that. Some harsh scientists think fatness in man was originally not so much for protection from cold, like in the whale, but as in the bear, fat was stored and magined against seasons and onslaughts of famine, the fat man in this case sucking of his thumbs, enjoying and partaking of himself—provided hungry friend or relatives did not anticipate his self-absorption by a more dramatic form of cannibal consumption.

Eskimos toward the ending of their almost sempiternal night grow nervous, flighty, hysterical, gnawing their nails and fingers sore. So this trifling nervous habit might seem to point out the hideous highway down which man has so fearfully crept into his day dawn.

The nail biting habit may belong to a great group of immensely interesting self-acting (automatic) educational actions and habits of the brain and body to which the strange sprawling, jerking movements of the baby belongs. The new born baby, like our evolutionary cousins the opossum and kangaroo, is only half born and finishes its infancy in the warm lap and arms and bosom of mother—so substituting the ridiculous marsupial pouch. Baby cannot begin living its life at once as most animals do, but must mature a year longer—in the meantime great sleeping nervous and muscular actions must be kept in training and exercise through these silly seeming sprawls.

The speech center in the brain and its faculty is so new and difficult that the seemingly insane vacuous parrottings, the chewing of the rag of chattering people is doubtless an unintentional exercise in singsong talk to keep speech alive and active to their posterity. Hand and mouth movements and gestures are so close in some peoples that it is a safe bet that they actually cannot talk if their hands are held.

Bread and Other Foods.

Wheat bread is not a necessity; it is only since the discovery of America that it has become a food of the masses. Many children prefer bananas to bread and the tropical fruit is quite as nutritious, quite as wholesome and about as cheap as bread at the present retail price. The taste for particular foods is largely a matter of acquired habit. In every American city there is now a big demand for black bread, because the people who have come here from Russia and southern Europe were, before emigrating to this country, accustomed to that kind of bread. Thomas Carlyle mentions the fact that the Scotch race maintained physical and intellectual vigor through many centuries upon a diet almost exclusively of oat gruel and milk.

German and French War Funds.

At the present time, and for the future as well, there is lying at the Bank of France in Paris a reserve gold store of $800,000,000 which is in fact looked upon as a war fund. The German "Kriegsschatz," or emergency war chest fund, only amounts to $30,000,000, and it is lying not in the Reichsbank at Berlin, but in the vaults of the Julius tower, in the fortress of Spandau, near the capital, against the coming of Germany's next evil day. It has been lying there as a dead fund ever since Germany received from France her war indemnity of $1,250,000,000, from which it was taken.

Likes the Frills of Women.

Admiral Dewey thinks the woman of the period is all right, and declares that he likes to see a woman with many frills and does not like the tailor-made girl with linen collars, and, worst of all, he says, coarse shoes. He is glad the woman of today is upon the other extreme of the scheme of dress.

How to Exterminate Bed Bugs

There is just one way to exterminate bed bugs so that this pest will bother you no more. This only way is to use WILCOX'S BUG-ICIDE, a preparation which never fails to kill all the bugs, destroy all their eggs and break up all their nests and breeding places.

You will not be disappointed when you depend on WILCOX'S BUG-ICIDE to thoroughly clean out bed bugs. No case is hopeless. There is not a house which is so infested with bed bugs that our BUG-ICIDE will not entirely rid it of this pest.

THE HOME-COMING FETE

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE HELD ANOTHER GOOD MEETING LAST NIGHT.

IS PLANNED TO ILLUMINATE THE CITY

That is, in the Down-Town District, and Have It Permanent. So That the Lights Can Be Used at Such Times as Desired.

The executive committee of the home-coming festival convened in regular semi-monthly session at the office of Probate Judge D. E. Kennedy last night. The meeting was largely attended and much progress was shown.

The invitation committee is still handicapped by the indifference of the people. They neglect, and in many instances refuse to help out by furnishing the names and addresses of ex-Sedalians. A gentleman has been employed, at considerable expense, to make a house-to-house canvass for the purpose of securing this necessary information, and even at that it is hard work, many persons refusing to "bother" with it at all and others requiring the solicitor to make several trips.

This is all wrong. Why do our people, Sedalians who pride themselves on their progressiveness, act so indifferently toward this event, upon which some of our citizens are spending much valuable time? An event that will, or ought to, show to the world that we are a wide awake community. An event that, if successful, will redound to the good of all alike. Why?

One merchant, a man that is benefited as much as any other citizen when anything good happens to Sedalia, absolutely refused to even help the solicitor. Now, dear reader, won't you be good and let Judge Kennedy have the names of some former residents. You could get up quite a list if you will. Please do.

The finance committee is not meeting with the success it ought. A festival of the character that we want to pull off here next October requires money. Remember that it is proposed to have our committee take care of the home-coming fete and our fair visitors, too. Heretofore we have raised $1500 to $2500 for the fair alone. For the combined events, of course more money will be required. A fund of at least $2000 will have to be provided if we expect to make people stand up and take notice.

Don't be niggardly in your subscriptions. If you want people to come here, give them something to come for and they will come all right. In other words, "cast your bread upon the waters," etc.

The most important scheme that has been sprung yet in connection with this home-coming fete is the proposition of Mr. Powell, that we make an effort to provide a permanent system of artistic electric lighting of the downtown streets, to be used at Christmas time, fourth of July, during our fair week, on occasions of big assemblages, or at any time desired. But the idea is to have it permanent. With that end in view a committee composed of Mayor Babcock as chairman, W. H. Powell, Chas. Hoffman and A. D. Stanley was appointed to see what could be done in that line. The committee was instructed to confer with the trustees of the Convention Hall fund, to ascertain if they would be willing to appropriate that fund to such a purpose, it being understood that this money should go for that object only. It is believed that ten large street arches be built and a system of festoon lighting installed for $2,000 to $2,500.

There is now in the Convention Hall fund over $2000, so that if the committee can have that fund an elegant lighting system can be installed.

Mr. Andler, in behalf of his company, has agreed to provide for the lighting of the system next fall, and it is highly probable that the electric company will light the system for us each fair time. Can we ask more?

It is the desire of the committee to provide outdoor attractions in the nature of good vaudeville "stunts," plenty of good music, fireworks, etc. These will be free, and given at night on the downtown streets. It will take money, but won't it pay?

The next meeting of the committee will be on Tuesday night, June 23. Any who are interested in the outcome of the committee's efforts are welcomed to attend these meetings. Things look pretty good for Sedalia. Let's all help. He! oh! he!

Mrs. Taft Goes About Alone.

Mrs. Taft differs from Mrs. Roosevelt in taking her walks abroad unaccompanied by her lady-in-waiting. The ex-Miss Hagner, now settled down permanently to a desk in the war department—she says she enjoys her new job—attended every footstep of her presidential patroness. Mrs. Roosevelt never budged un-Hagnergated. The royal secretary was ever the most conspicuous figure on the official landscape at the White House. She ran the show. Now Mrs. Taft brooks no dictatorship. If she has a social secretary she doesn't complain of her in public. Mrs. Taft is self-reliant. She does her own thinking and her own walking. One meets the president's wife any morning trucking briskly down F street in a plain little gray tailor suit and black toque and common-sense heels, unshadowed and unchaperoned, darting in and out of shops, democratically, usually unrecognized. She is becoming proficient in driving her own electric runabout, which is one of a trinity of new machines in the White House stables nowadays.

MISS FARLEY'S RECITAL

It Was Given at the Home of Mrs. Steele This Afternoon.

Miss Maud Farley, one of the talented pupils of Mrs. W. D. Steele, gave a pupil's song recital at the home of Mrs. Steele, on South Kentucky avenue, this afternoon, and the universal verdict of all was that it was one of the most pleasing ever rendered in this city.

Miss Farley is possessed of a beautiful mezzo-soprano voice of dramatic power and full of sympathy and feeling, as was demonstrated, especially on her songs "Heart of Mine" and "Lull Drum."

Her cycle of songs, "A Night in Naisapur," showed exceptional finish. She can truly be called one of Sedalia's most promising singers, and great things can be expected of her in the future.

The instrumental numbers were by Miss Ruth Martin, a former Sedalia girl, now living at Maryville, who for the past two years has been studying piano under some of Chicago's most noted instructors. Her work showed remarkable finish and intellectuality, and it is to be regretted that she does not still reside here.

Both of these ladies are members of the Ladies' Musical Club.

Too much praise cannot be given Mrs. J. H. Rodes, the able accompanist of Miss Farley, who is not only a great singer, but an accompanist as well. Her work was excellent and elicited deserved praise.

As for Mrs. Steele, under whose instruction Miss Farley has developed her talents, too many compliments cannot be given, for throughout the entire recital Miss Farley demonstrated the careful and perfect training of her teacher.

After the rendition of the program, fruit punch was served, and all guests returned home, voting the recital one of the most delightful from every standpoint ever heard in the city.

The Steele home was prettily decorated in spring flowers and bouquets. The program rendered was as follows:

FAMOUS WHITE HOUSE BOSSIE

Official Cow Appears Not Yet to Have Been Given a Permanent Name—Two Suggestions.

No sooner has the handsome and ladylike creature whose portrait appeared in a recent issue of the Sun assumed the proud position of "The First Cow in the Land," than envy begins to raise its head. Of course a cow in her position, necessarily in the public eye, cannot fail to attract general notice, and cannot hope to avoid criticism.

Here comes the Johnstown Democrat with the intimation that the lady cow's name is "Imogene." This slander is indignantly refuted by the Washington Herald, which is published in the same pasture and whose editor doubtless has a personal acquaintance with the White House cow. Neither is her name Helen, nor Desdemona, nor Angeline. The report that her name is Carrie evidently originated in Kansas, where the hatchet Carrie has its habitat. She is a generous cow, and her name is not Hetty. Neither is it. Bridget, though, she shows a great fondness for the grass when it's wearing of the green. No glacial Gertrude nor haughty Hildegarde is she. Marie is too frisky for her, and Gretchen too domestic. For while she is fond of home, she also realizes her position and her duty to the public. A nickname like "Sooky" or "Brindle" would be impertinent or vulgar. It seems to us that the only proper name for her would be either "Martha" or "Hail," depending largely on whether she adopts as her last name "Washington" or "Columbia."

Whatever her name, she seems to be a creature of usual ability who is doing her best to serve her country. She has been patient under criticism, has borne photography without a murmur, and not a complaint has escaped her lips. She appears to be worthy of the honor of chief of the Pure Milk Circle of Cows' Daughters.—Baltimore Sun.

Another international marriage is scheduled to take place in the diplomatic circle at Washington. Miss Blanche Willis Emory, daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. William Homersley Emory, is soon to marry Mr. Esmond Ovey, M. V. O., third secretary of the British embassy.

Mr. Ovey was best man at the wedding of Mr. H. W. Kennard, second secretary of the embassy, when he was married last December to an American woman, Miss Harriet Norris. Mr. Ovey has been in the American capital a year. He began his diplomatic career about six years ago, having been stationed at Paris, Tangier and Stockholm before coming to this country.

He is a linguist of an unusual order, speaking French, German, Spanish, Russian and Arabic fluently. The decoration of the Victorian order was conferred upon him for personal service rendered to the king.

Miss Emory is a favorite in society in Washington and New York. Her father has a place at Roslyn, L. I., and here the family spends a part of each year. The Emorys have for summer neighbors the Whitneys, Raines and Mackays, and it is probable that the wedding will take place at the Long Island home sometime in the near future.

Mrs. Taft's Enjoyments.

Mrs. Taft had a good time when she was growing into womanhood and she has evidently not forgotten the pleasures of those days. She keeps young people around her whenever it is possible to do so.

Like her distinguished husband, Mrs. Taft delights in a good play and has been a constant theater goer in the last month. Usually she is accompanied by the president, who rarely permits his official duties to interfere with an evening with Mrs. Taft.

Personally Mrs. Taft is a woman who has accomplished the achievement of being a successful official hostess and one who is able to throw off the cares of officialdom and enjoy herself as any other woman in the world likes to do.

Prehistoric California City.

What is considered to be the most important archaeological find yet made in the state of California took place recently when a man discovered the ruins of a prehistoric city in the San Jacinto mountains, near the edge of the Coachella valley. There are more than 700 well-preserved stone houses, evidences of paved streets and a large amount of earthenware. The discoverer's attention was first attracted to the place by a number of gashes in the mountain side, and on investigation he found a series of heaped-up stones. He approached nearer and found the streets of an ancient city, the houses being built on terraces. An old road was found to lead from the city to the top of a near-by peak, on which was found the stone ruin of what seemed to have been a watch tower.—The Pathfind

CURIOSITY

What shall we do to be saved? was the title of one of Robt. Ingersoll's lectures. People of faith and people of no faith flocked to hear it. Thousands are asking, "What shall I do to get rid of dandruff?" The answer is, "Kill the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair and finally baldness; and the only thing that will do it is Newbro's Herpicide. That is the very latest discovery of the laboratory, and it is the only preparation that claims to, or that will, kill the pestiferous dandruff germ. It also is a delightful hair dressing, free from oil or grease or sticky substances. Try it and be convinced of its actual merit. Sold by leading druggists. HE'S PROUD OF HIS "CATCH"

John Montgomery, Jr., Entertains Party of Friends.

John Montgomery, Jr., who, with W. E. Card, of Nevada, returned late Tuesday from a two weeks' fishing visit in the north, entertained about a score of his friends at his home, 301 East Broadway, last night, the principal feature of the entertainment being the display of a 20-pound muskellunge, an American pike food fish, which he caught just as he was preparing to return home.

The fish is a wonder. Just as Mr. Montgomery was crossing the lake, preparatory to the return trip, he threw his line into a whirlpool and caught the fish, it requiring an hour's work to remove it from the water. As soon as Mr. Montgomery pulled it to shore an Indian guide injured the fish by striking it on the head with a boat oar.

The Sedalian and his guide hurriedly constructed a box, secured some ice from a farmer near by, packed the fish and prepared it for shipment to Sedalia, doing all this before life was fairly extinct.

Much enthusiasm was shown at last night's gathering at Mr. Montgomery's unusual catch, and perhaps when he goes on another such trip he will be accompanied by several of last night's guests.

BILL SCOTT, A KATY ENGINEER, SAYS A JONAH TRAIN HAS NO TERROR.

COACH CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the I. of Democrat.

Bill Scott, a south end Katy engineer, who "isn't afraid of hoodoos," had another Jonah train a few days ago, and got through without mishap, says the Denison Herald.

Pulling the Dallas local, with J. G. Midkiff at the scoop, he left Dallas at 6:13 with 23 cars. He met No. 203, with engine 333, at Garland, at 7:23 a. m. Fireman Midkiff had meal book No. 2313, and an examination showed that he had 23 coupons thereon.

Setting out cars along the line, they reached Denison at 3:23 with 13 loads, and didn't meet anything like a Jonah on the entire run.

Katy Engineer Was Injured.

O. E. Kahn, an engineer on the Katy south end, left on the Katy flyer this afternoon for Sedalia, Mo., to be treated for injuries sustained on his last trip, near Fort Worth, says the Denison Herald.

His injuries consist of a fractured ankle, and it is said that he is the fourth man who has been injured within the past few months on the same engine—No. 475, generally called the "four-ty-five."

The injuries are inflicted by the reverse lever slipping on the quadrant, crushing the foot or leg, as the case may be, against the boiler head. The men injured besides Mr. Kahn were J. L. Cole, Charley Baldwin and M. L. Kretschmer.

Injured at the Shops.

H. C. Worlidge, a Missouri Pacific carman at the new shops, had the first and second fingers on his right hand fractured, the third finger dislocated, and sustained an injury to his right knee while at work at the shops at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. He was removed to his home, 1722 Harrison avenue.

Excursion Here the Fourth.

Owl Nest lodge No. 1184, Order of Owls, today closed a contract with the Missouri Pacific railway for the operation of an excursion train from Kansas City to Sedalia on Monday, July 5, on account of the celebration to be held here on that day.

Will Succeed N. P. Kemp.

Special Agent Quinn, of the Iron Mountain railway system, has been appointed successor to N. P. Kemp, on the Sedalia district of the Missouri Pacific railway, the appointment to take effect on July 1.

MUST PAY GIRL $15,000

HIS "SAND SNIPE" SWEETHEART GETS A VERDICT FOR THAT VERY CLEVER SUM.

CAST HER ASIDE TO MAKE ANOTHER WIFE

Son of Millionaire Shoe Manufacturer Sued for Breach of Promise—The Jury Was Not Long in Reaching Agreement.

New York, June 23.—"Your own Sam" S. Laird, Jr., will have to pay his "Sand Snipe," Cora Sinclair, $15,000 for jilting her after eight years' monopoly of her time and attention, during which they lived as husband and wife in a West Side flat and traveled all over the country together.

The jury before which the case was tried in Justice Amend's part of the Supreme Court brought in a verdict for that amount in her favor yesterday.

Nathan Burkan, on behalf of Laird, moved to set aside the verdict and for a new trial, but both motions were denied.

Mr. Burkan said he would carry the case to the appellate division and to the Court of Appeals if necessary.

When Justice Amend gave the case to the jury Monday evening, he evidently believed that the twelve men in the box would have a long, difficult time in reaching a verdict, for he directed that they bring in a sealed verdict and then went home.

But the jury agreed on the first ballot to give the "Sand Snipe Girl," as Laird called her in his letters, something as balm for her wounded heart, and then it was but the work of three minutes to reach an agreement on the amount she ought to have from the son of the millionaire shoe manufacturer of Philadelphia.

Angel Rolls.

This recipe will make thirty or thirty-five rolls. Bake an angel food cake in a pan about twelve by six by three inches. Let cool out in slices as thin as possible, trim off the brown edges spread each slice with icing, sprinkle with chopped nuts, roll it up, stick through with a toothpick, and stand on end. When all are done in this way begin with the first one and ice the outside, rolling in chopped nuts. A drop of icing and half a nut makes a nice finish for the top of roll. When icing has set take out picks. A half pound of shelled almonds will make this recipe.

Tomato Puzzle.

Three large ripe tomatoes skinned, two green peppers, one small onion, three large boiled potatoes skinned, four eggs. Squeeze seeds out of tomatoes. Take seeds out of peppers. Cut all up fine with the onion and potato then put in a frying pan with a piece of melted butter the size of an egg. After cooking the mixture eight or ten minutes stir in the four eggs and cook until they are done. This is an excellent breakfast or lunch dish.

LOVED BROTHER-IN-LAW

BUT SHE HAD A HUSBAND, AND OF COURSE HE STOOD IN WAY OF THE COUPLE.

A VERY EASY MATTER TO GET RID OF HIM

Unfaithful Wife Confesses She Administered the Poison, but Says Lover Planned the Deed and Bought Strychnine.

York, Pa., June 23.—Joshua Tracey, who died here Monday of last week in such terrible convulsions that he tore the flesh from his breast, was poisoned, his wife, Minnie, having, Chief of Police White asserts, confessed to the deed.

The woman implicates William Brown, a brother-in-law, whose wife died eighteen months ago and with whom she is madly infatuated, declaring that he planned the murder and procured for her the strychnine with which it was accomplished.

Tracey's death was so indicative of poison that his wife and Brown, whose relations with her were common gossip, were arrested last Saturday.

Joshua Tracey surprised Brown and Mrs. Tracey in the woods several days ago, and it is understood she had then met Brown by appointment to receive the strychnine.

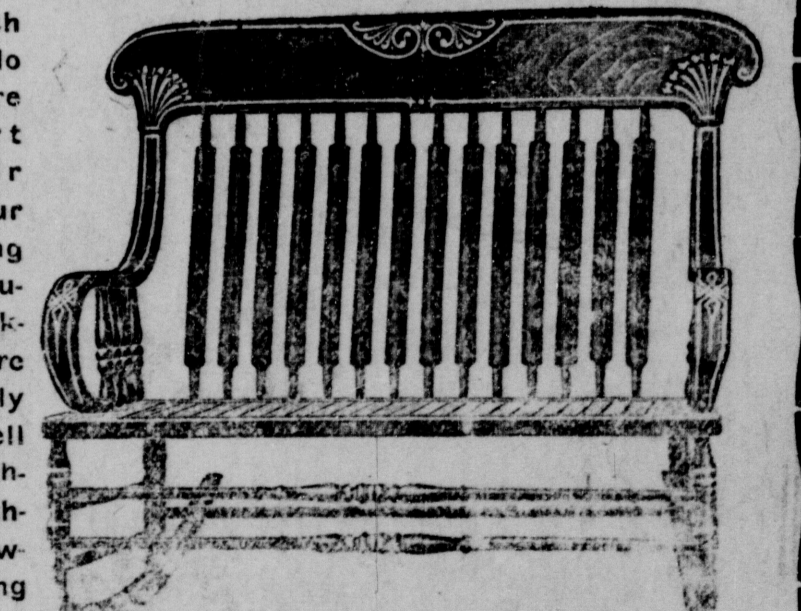

The police say that Brown admits having procured the strychnine for Mrs. Tracey, but he declares that she told him she wanted it to use as rat poison.

JEFF TO MEET JOHNSON

THE FORMER CHAMPION TO CON-CLUDE HIS THEATRICAL TOUR TOMORROW.

HE WILL IMMEDIATELY BEGIN TRAINING

Expects to Meet Johnson, the Negro Champion, Within the Next Five Months—Now Tips
Scales at 238 Pounds.

Chicago, June 23.—According to the statement of Sam Berger, manager of the retired champion, Jeffries' theatrical tour will end tomorrow, and he will immediately begin training for his attempt to regain the heavyweight title now held by Jack Johnson.

"Jeffries will be ready to meet Johnson within five months after the expiration of his theatrical contract, which ends tomorrow," said Berger.
"Mind you, we do not want to state definitely that it will be five months to the day. Jim wants five months in which to train actively for the engagement. That is all he asks.

"The club that offers the best inducements will get the mill; that is all there is to it. Jeffries, of course, prefers an American club, and believes the battle should be decided in this country. But should an Australian club offer better inducements than any American organization he would consider such an offer."

Speaking of Jeff's condition Berger said:

"Believe me, Jeffries never has missed a single day at training since he took to the road. He has brought himself down from 254 pounds, which was his exact weight when he started training, to 238, which is his weight this minute, and believe me, no one lives a better life than does Jim at the present time. I never saw a man with a stronger ambition to do things than he possesses right now. He has three meals a day, but they are all moderate and well within training bounds.

"Seldom does it happen that he is not in his room an hour after the night's performance. He is always tired out and goes to bed at once.
His wife has been with him constantly and sees to it that Jim does not lose sleep in restaurants. Jim does not share the seemingly popular belief that Johnson is a wonder and a hard man. He considers him easy, but at the same time is going to make no mistakes. He will be in grand shape when the time comes for the meeting."

SUIT AGAINST A PRIEST

YALE GRADUATE CHARGES PAS-TOR ADVISED BRIDE TO DE-SERT HIM.

FILES SUIT FROM CELL IN EMPIRE STATE

Richard F. Price, in Brooklyn Jail.
Demands Damages of $100,000—
The Case Will Attract Wide Attention.

New York, June 23.—The Rev.
Father Ambrose Dunnigan, pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Loretta at Hempstead, L. I., and until last September pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Mary in Brooklyn, has been served with papers in a suit in which Richard F. Price, formerly an attorney, but now an inmate of the Raymond street jail, sues the priest for $100,000 for having enticed Price's wife from him by telling her the story of his life.

In an answer filed by Dickman, Oe-land & Kuhn, 189 Montague street, Brooklyn, Father Dunnigan, who was a lawyer before entering the priesthood, denies the charge in every detail. Lyman L. Settle, 280 Broadway, represents the plaintiff in the action,
which is to be heard in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn.

The story hangs upon the allegation that Father Dunnigan, one of the officiating priests at Price's marriage, learned that Price had served a year's sentence on Blackwell's island, a term at Sing Sing for grand larceny, and was released on a writ of habeas corpus after serving one year of a four-year term; and that the priest repeated these things to the bride, who left her husband and returned to her mother in Jersey City.

Price told his story yesterday afternoon in the Raymond street jail.
He said he had been a resident of Clinton, Ia., and had gone as a young man to Yale where he was graduated in 1894 as a doctor of civil law. He was admitted to practice in New York in October, 1894, and practiced until 1903, when he was disbarred after being convicted of grand larceny.

"I am in jail," he said, "upon a charge made by William Eggert of Brooklyn that I withheld from him
the title to twelve lots in Jamaica, which, he says, had been conveyed to me for the purpose of perfecting title to them. The fact is that when told by me and others that the title required much work to 'cure' it, Eggert sold me the lots on Dec. 22, 1908, for $2,000 and I paid in cash, taking a deed, which is recorded.

"Several lawyers had worked on the title and had pronounced it bad.
When I had the property a month I corrected the defect in title, mortgaged the lots for $1,800 and later sold them to James A. Campbell, who lives near Bay Ridge. Then Eggert declared he had really given me the title to allow me to perfect the form and that I had sold his property. The district attorney sent for me. I told him I would be glad to give him all of the information possible and the matter was dropped until a woman came to the district attorney with other information. I don't know who she was.

"The old cases about me have been published. They included the charge that I had taken $2,000 from a convict in Sing Sing as a trust fund and appropriated it, and, as a second charge, that I had taken $35 from a woman to get her a divorce and had showed her a fictitious decree and thus obtained her money. After I had served eight months on Blackwell's island on one of these charges and had been transferred to Sing Sing on the other, I was released on a writ of habeas corpus and went to work for trust and title companies, examining titles.

"That brings me up to the story of my marriage. August 8, 1908, I went to the rectory and asked Father Dunnigan to go with me to Jersey City, where I proposed marrying Miss Margaret O'Connell, a resident of that city. He went and, with Father O'Mally, married us at St. Mary's church, Aug. 15. I had gone to my baptismal priest, Father Gerard of St.
Mary church, Boston, and asked him
if I should reveal what had happened to me in the past. I was told I ought not to do so and I did not.

"Now my suit is filed on the charge that Father Dunnigan told my wife what had happened to me and advised her to leave me and go to her mother."

ROBS BANK IN DAYLIGHT

ORDERS FORT WORTH TELLER TO "KEEP STILL" AND GETS AWAY WITH $8,100.

ELUDES POLICE EFFORTS TO CAPTURE

Officers Chase Car in Auto, but Without Avail—Surrounding Cities Searched—Bank Insured and Not Lose Anything.

Fort Worth, Texas, June 23.—Walking into the branch bank of the Waggoner Bank and Trust company, at Fourteenth and Main streets, last afternoon at 4 o'clock, an unmasked robber thrust a pistol against the head of Cashier Walter G. King, secured $8,100 and escaped.

His only announcement was: "Keep still." He then grasped the money and, still flourishing the pistol, backed through the door. As soon as he departed the alarm was given.

Messages were sent to Dallas and other cities, and every railroad and public highway leading out of Fort Worth was guarded. A thousand dollars of the money stolen was in new green $10 bills and all in one package.

The detective headquarters was notified at once. Every available detective and policeman at the city hall was at once put on the hunt for the criminal.

In spite of the fact that only a few minutes had elapsed he had disappeared.

The man who entered the bank is described as follows: About 25 years old, clean shaven, 6 feet tall, dark hair and complexion. He was of neat appearance and wore good clothes.
Apparently he was a man of fairly good social standing. He could be called neither ugly nor handsome.

A big touring car, which was found in front of the city hall, was seized by the police and started in pursuit of the interurban car which left the court house at 4 o'clock bound for Dallas.

It was thought that the robber was on this car. After a hard chase out East Front street the car was overtaken and screeched, but no suspicious parties were found aboard it.

Sam D. Triplett, cashier of the bank, announced that the loss was protected by burglary insurance.

A captain of police with a detail of detectives went from Fort Worth to Dallas last night and every resort in the city is being searched.

HOUSE LINED WITH MONEY

$1,000 Found Under Carpet of Dead
Woman's Home—Walls Full.

Sperry, Ia., June 23.—The mystery of the disappearance of the wealth of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Farrier, of this city, has been solved by the removal of the carpet, which disclosed
the fact that the floor was fairly covered with bank notes.

Nearly $1,000 was found. Other sums were revealed about the house in an old organ, in the walls and other out of the way places. In fact, the house was fairly lined with cash, and the administrators are still searching and finding money.

Mrs. Farrier did not believe in banks and secreted her money in her home.

Record of Achievements Should Have Convinced Judge He Was Wrong
in Making Hasty Judgment
by Appearance.

A prominent judge once arrived in a strange town and, wishing to ascertain the way to the best hotel, stopped before a lazy looking, cumbersome fellow leaning on the corner fence. This fellow answered his queries in such a drawing, apathetic way that the judge, with growing repugnance, wondered what the man might be good for.

So, looking him over with a not too kindly eye, he asked him what he was working at.

"O," replied the other, with a broad yawn, "I'm takin' it pretty easy."

"Don't you know, sir, that we are all put here to toll?" demanded the judge somewhat testily.

"We're here to keep agoin'," the other rejoined, lobbing over the fence post. "I don't believe, though, in goin' anybody else's. I believe in actin' natural."

"If you mean—"

"Now, when I was young," the fellow drawled on, ignoring the inquisitor's last attempt, "when I was young everybody said I was cut out for a good-for-nothing; an' I ain't done what I'd call a hard day's work since. Still, I've managed somehow to git enough eat an' drink to keep agoin'. I let things come an' go easy-like an' leave the worryin' to others."

"There'll come a day of reckoning, my man!" put in the judge, with unsuppressed disgust.

"Reckoning?" His eyes languidly gazed afar off. "Now some folks—a lot of 'em—stew about that; I don't. When the Lord calls me up to throw my lead in on the weigh scales, I'll throw it right in an' pick out a shady, cool spot where I can take it as easy as I do now," with a lazy chuckle.

"And what have you got to the good to weigh—what have you accomplished?" insisted the judge, hotly.

"Accomplished? Now, as I said before, mister, work never worried me much; but here's this house here," pushing a thumb wearily over his shoulder. "Jim Stetson put that up several years ago an' I stood 'round an' watched an' put in a word now an' then as to how I'd put 'er up if I was doing it myself. Then there's them two stores an' barn over yonder, worth nigh onto $6,000—Stetson had them built. Next he put up the bank, the opera house an' then the hotel you're lookin' for. I—"

"I suppose you stood around and throw in a little advice as usual?" interrupted the judge, sarcastically.

"I did that!" the drone rejoined, with an unexpected burst of enthusiasm. "An' I was there when they built Stetson's big mill 'round the corner there. That mill was nothin' but a shack when Stetson started it up—he was a young man—but it grew an' grew an' ground out 'nough money so's Stet could build pretty much the whole town. Stetson—"

"Let up on Stetson, man; he's a captain of industry. The question is, what have you accomplished?" uttered the thoroughly-harassed judge.

The other's enthusiasm suddenly died down as he looked away and said, carelessly:

"Me? O, yes—well, I'm Stetson."—Spare Moments.

Valda, Mo., June 23.

Mrs. J. W. Baldwin and sister-in-law, Mrs. Meiton, of Sedalia, and Mrs. Sterling Harris, spent Monday with Mrs. W. D. Elliott.

Hon. C. C. Lawson, of Sedalia, took supper and spent the night Sunday with Valda friends.

Robert Anderson and family and

B. F. Warren and family took Sunday dinner with W. D. Elliott and wife.

Mr. Charley Wingate, who has been quite sick, is able to be up most of the time, but is not feeling quite so well. He, with his wife and two daughters, will leave tonight for a visit with relatives in North Missouri.

Misses Monah and Flora Elliott attended services at Bethlehem last Sunday and dined with Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Elliott.

Quite a nice crowd attended the granite shower last Saturday afternoon given by Miss Blanche Anderson for her cousin, Miss Irah Anderson, who is to be married Wednesday evening. The prospective bride received many of the nicest pieces of granite ware.

There will be an ice cream social given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Elliott next Saturday evening, for the benefit of Bethlehem church. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. This is the first social of the season and should be well attended.

Miss Irah Anderson and Mr. John Stahlhut will be married at the home of the bride Wednesday evening at 7:30. The wedding will be a quiet affair, only immediate relatives being present.

Mrs. J. A. Elliott entertained a company of friends at her home last Friday. Those present were: D. W. Stephens and wife, Mrs. Mollie Warren, William Anderson and wife and two daughters, B. F. Elliott and wife and Mr. Isaac Elliott and wife. A sumptuous dinner was served and all had a most enjoyable time. Mrs. Elliott was assisted in serving dinner by her three daughters, Mrs. Maud Arnold and Misses Hatlie and Fannie Elliott.

STEERAGE PASSAGE FROM NEW YORK

To Journey Through Southern Europe, Egypt and Part of Asia—Will See the Many Sights in the Holy Land.

New York, June 23.—A party of Harvard students, possessed of only enough of this world's goods to pay their passage to and from Europe in the steerage, but with a large reserve stock of energy and perseverance, set sail today for the Mediterranean.

They propose to make a trip on foot through Southern Europe, Egypt and part of Asia, working their way from town to town.

After landing at the Piræus, they will walk to Athens. In their trip they will visit Constantinople, and the Holy Land, Port Said, Cairo and other interesting places in Egypt.

They plan to cover the earthquake district in Southern Italy and Sicily, working north into Europe through Italy. After their return to New York, they will walk to Cambridge.

The entire trip, with the exception of short boat passages across the Mediterranean, will be on foot.

WHEN HE REJOICED

CLEAN SLATE PROVIDED FOR MONDAY MORNING.

Temporary Inconvenience of Saturday Night More Than Made Up by the Rustle of the Money Unspent.

They sat at a table with a couple of bottles of beer before them, Martin was angry. Wilson was serene and smiling.

"Are you going to slip me a five-spot or not?" Martin demanded as he glared fiercely at Wilson.

"I am not going to slip you a five-spot," remarked Wilson with provoking calmness.

"Then that settles it; you are no friend of mine," said Martin in a resigned manner, as he took up a bottle and poured himself another drink. "Any man," he continued "who will persuade another to put all his money in a letter and mail it to himself and then see him go around without a cent in his clothes the balance of the night and not loan him a cent is not a fit associate for anybody, and I'm going home." He lit a cigar, and showed no move toward carrying out his threat.

Wilson drew a roll of bills from his pocket and held them just out of Martin's reach and laughed at him. Martin finished his beer at one gulp.

The truth of the matter was that Wilson had persuaded Martin to try a system of which he claimed to be the originator—that of putting his weeks pay in an envelope addressed to himself and dropping it in a mail box, and finding it on the breakfast table awaiting him when he came down the next day broke. Wilson claimed that it was the most delightful sensation in the world, and he wanted Martin to experience it. Martin, to humor his whim, had consented and dropped two 20-dollar bills, carefully sealed, in a letter to his own address. Wilson knew Martin's weakness of throwing away his money when the white lights shone in his eyes, and as it is a long time from pay day to pay day, even if only a week, he wished to save Martin from Martin. But Martin regretted his action before the letter had struck the bottom of the mail box. Wilson now had him where he wanted him.

"What are you beefing about?" he said to Martin severely. "I'll buy you anything you want to eat or drink; that's just the same as having money."

"No, it's not," replied Martin. "I know what the matter with you. You know you've got me dead to rights now, and you want the pleasure of having me follow you around like a dog all the evening to get my eats and drinks. I had plenty of money and you persuaded me to blow myself against the mail box; now the chances are I'll never see my bundle again, and some letter carrier will be sending flowers to his best girl every morning at my expense."

Wilson was enjoying the situation hugely. He often had been broke, but now he took the spender's license of lecturing and browbeating the other fellow. He knew Martin was dependent on him for his evening's entertainment and that he could not lose him.

When Martin went down to breakfast the next morning Wilson was sitting at the table. There was a letter on Martin's plate. Martin slit it open with his knife and glanced cautiously through the orifice at its contents. He gave a sigh of satisfaction and drew forth two 20-dollar bills. Wilson was watching him slyly over the top of his paper. Martin tried hard to look serious, but the smile would show itself. He extended his hand to Wilson. "Shake, old man, shake. It does feel good," he said.

DRAUGHT THAT SAVED A CITY

Well Does Rothenburg Commemorate the Heroic Act of Its Self-Sacrificing Burgomaster.

It was back in the Thirty Years' war, it was in 1631, that the principal event in the history of the city took place; the principal event, in the judgment of every inhabitant. It is annually commemorated by a play, a pageant, in which all that happened in the course of the great day—the day of the Meister-trunk, the Master Drink—is represented by generals and counselors, soldiers and people, costumed in character, in the streets, in the market place, in the Rathaus, Robert Shackleton says, in Harper's.

For the ferocious Tilly captured Rothenburg, and, enraged by his losses, declared that the town should be destroyed, the leading inhabitants slain, and the rest turned over to the soldiery. But women and children wailed lamentably as he rode to the Rathaus, and clung to his stirrup imploring mercy. And he flung them mercy with contempt. "Let the dogs live," he said. "I will be merciful. None but the burgomaster and all the counselors of the town shall die."

He went into the great room of the Rathaus and called for wine and a frightened girl carried in a huge and brimming goblet—a goblet so huge that he burst into a great laugh. "Am I to drink this?" he said, holding it up. And the grim humor seized him. "If any man of Rothenburg will drink this at a single draught I will spare the city and spare every life!"

There was a great silence, and then a former burgomaster, a certain Nusch—his name is worthy of remembrance—stepped intrepidly forward and took the goblet from Tilly's hand. He drank, and the silence deepened as the foot of the goblet slowly rose in the air; he drank and drank till every drop was drained. Then he fell senseless to the floor.

"Revive him!" said Tilly; and Nusch came slowly back to life.

Tilly was a good loser. "You have won," he said, admiringly, as the man raised himself and looked around. Whereat Rothenburg's hero could only gasp out with a touch of good old-fashioned humor even in such a presence: "I never—could—save—another town!"

EMPLOYING HANDS AND BRAIN

Edgar Allan Poe's Humorous Idea for Saving of Time in Literary Labor.

Many traditions and stories of Edgar Allan Poe are still current at the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, where he was a student, says James Bernard Lyon in the Home Magazine.

Poe was very proud of his penmanship. One day, so the story goes, a friend entered the room to find Poe writing busily with both hands.

"What are you doing?" asked the friend.

"Writing with both hands," said Poe.

"Both hands!" exclaimed the friend. "But how on earth can you make any progress in that way?"

"Easy enough. It is a theory of mine that it is a waste of time not to be able to use both hands at the same time. Both hands and brain can be trained, with care and attention, so that each hand may do its full share of work—each hand being employed on a separate task. It is not really an affair of the hands at all, in the last analysis, but an affair of the intellect. I am training my hands and brain now so that I can do twice as much work as the ordinary person in a given period of time. At the present moment I am writing a poem with my right hand; one that I confidently believe will startle the world. And with my left hand I am blocking out a wonderful story; a story which should capture thousands of readers.

"It will only be a short time before I will be able to take my examinations in this manner and dispose of two subjects simultaneously. It will save time and will give hands and brain their full duty."

AN ATTRACTION AT THE CHAUTAQUA.

TO BE A GREAT MUSICAL FESTIVAL DAY

Biggest Drawing Card in This Line Ever Secured by a Western Chautauqua—It Will Attract Many Visitors.

Realizing the most perfect weather conditions of the season, Kryl and his band set a new mark for attendance at Zoo concerts yesterday. Not only did the crowds almost overflow the garden, but the shoddy haired Bohemian and his men got a tremendous reception and more than a score of encores were demanded at each concert. Kryl is popular here, as was attested by the enthusiasm of the vast gathering of admirers. Remarkable cleverness has been displayed in arranging the programs, in which a solemn overture or funeral march is followed by such a selection as "A Coon's Dream of the Past." In this way varied tastes are gratified. Kryl has a musician's conception of the demands of the various numbers which he offers to the public. Reeds predominate, as they should, in the personnel of the organization, and the bandmaster uses them with artistic effect. Kryl is somewhat spectacular in his directing, but not enough so to make him clownish or ridiculous. With him is a tuba player, Red Cloud, an Indian, who is a genius on the instrument, as shown in his solo numbers.

Of course, the beautiful cornet playing of Mr. Kryl, who is one of the world's virtuosos on that instrument, is the chief attraction of the programs. His wonderful tone and volume, as well as his charming quality of execution and shading make Kryl a magnetic and fascinating performer. A vocal sextette, composed of Mme. Clara Hunt, Miss Helena McDonald, Rudolph Vondra, E. Howard, S. Christopher and S. Manchester, is a pleasing feature of the concerts. The voices are well balanced, and the ever popular sextette from "Lucia" won the noisy favor of the crowds. At the night concert these singers gave scenes from "Faust." Mr. Jaralav Chimera, assistant director and trombone soloist, played solos on his instrument with dexterity and feeling. From the way Kryl has started his engagement at the Zoo he will prove the biggest card that resort has had for several seasons.—Cincinnati Enquirer, June 14, 1909.

Kryl and his famous band in connection with eight noted grand opera singers will be at the Sedalia Chautauqua on Thursday, July 29. The Great Musical Festival day. This is the biggest musical attraction ever secured by any western Chautauqua.

UNEXPECTED BENEFITS

More Voluntary Concessions to Thousands of Policy-Holders By the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

A remarkable spirit of liberality toward its policy holders is again the striking feature of the periodical statement or report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, a summary of which was published in Tuesday's Democrat-Sentinel.

The attitude of this great financial organization toward the millions of individuals who have relations with it invites comment, and affords some grounds for interesting comparisons.

Broadly speaking, the inducements offered by responsible life insurance companies to insure persons are of two kinds. One consists in a proposition to carry a definite amount of "straight" insurance at low cost; the other offers innumerable plans by which in return for excessive premium payments the person insured is to "participate" in the earnings of the company, receiving benefits that are not definitely stated in the policy itself. The first plan appeals to the man of judgment as a clear-cut business contract under which all obligations are mutually understood. The other appeals to the speculative instinct, and demands a higher degree of confidence in the insuring company, which carefully avoids an absolute guarantee of benefits proportioned to the high rates demanded.

The Metropolitan Life sells "straight" insurance only; that is, it promises to pay at death, or at the expiration of your policy, a fixed sum plainly written in the contract. As a matter of course, it must sell this insurance at a cost low enough to secure business in competition with all the big insurance companies. Having issued such a policy, the company has no further obligations under its terms until the specified benefits are due and payable. The person insured is satisfied with his contract and expects only that it will be exactly carried out. So far as we know, any great financial or mercantile organization would consider such a contract final.

But at this point the Metropolitan Life chooses to temper hard-and-fast business methods by injecting a little "soul" into its after relations with the man who holds its policy.

It must be kept in mind that the actual cost of insuring a life can never by any human foresight be calculated in advance with absolute correctness. The death rate in a given population varies from year to year; the earnings of invested funds are bound to be greater or less through periods of prosperity and depression; the cost of operating the company's business will each year bear a different proportion to the number and value of policies in force. Insurance must be sold at a price based upon its probable future cost under these varying conditions, and the safety of the company, upon which all its policy holders depend for protection, must be assured by estimating the cost as high as past experience has proven necessary.

The business of the Metropolitan Life has increased tremendously year by year, while its operating expenses, proportioned to the vast amount of insurance carried, grow steadily less. Ordinarily the resulting gains would be considered legitimate reward of enterprise under capable management, in which the policy holders have no interest; but this particular insurance company chooses to share its prosperity with them by paying bonuses and increasing benefits. The report just issued makes a remarkable showing: The Company in ten years has reduced the ratio of expense to premium income on its business in all departments 15 per cent. In the Industrial Department alone the reduction accomplished in the past five years amounts to 8 per cent—this last item representing a total of three and a half million dollars. These great gains are being used to increase the benefits 10 per cent on all policies in force since January 1, 1907. As to policies dated previous to January 1, 1907, a bonus of 8 per cent of the premiums is given for a year on all policies over five years old.

ADVANCEMENT

Every day gives birth to some new invention or discovery. Science is ever on the march. Nowhere has mankind made greater progress, than in the field of medicine. The trained expert can now look farther into the mysteries of life, and penetrate deeper into the secrets of diseases, than ever before.

America does not contain a greater corps of expert specialists, more alive to these conditions than The Dr. Camp Medical Co. Their Modern Americanized European Method of Treatment is certainly a boon to mankind. Their Painless, Bloodless, Surgery Method has startled the medical world. Patients from all over the United States seek their aid for the cure of Cancer, Piles, Fistula and Pelvic diseases. Their Inhalatorium Treatment for diseases of the Nose, Throat, Ears, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs, is unsurpassed for the cure of diseases that are caused by Germs, and as a part of their Modern Method. It is working wonders in many deep seated diseases of the stomach, Bowels, Liver, Bladder, Kidneys, Rheumatism, Paralysis, Sick Headache, and special diseases of the blood and skin.

and increased benefits are allowed on policies of long standing which become death claims.

To sum up these benefits—not promised to policy holders nor expected by them—it is shown that during the past sixteen years the concessions and bonuses in the Industrial Department alone are equivalent to a gift outright of eighteen millions of dollars.

Everyone would be benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative for constipation, stomach and liver trouble, as it sweetens the stomach and breath, gently stimulates the liver and regulates the bowels and is much superior to pills and ordinary laxatives. ST. LOUIS LIVESTOCK MARKET.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

National Stock Yards, Ill., June 22.

—Cattle receipts 4500, mostly natives. Market strong to a shade higher. Best steers here $7.00, and they were not prime. General basis of values looks 10 to 15c higher than a week ago, and indications point to light receipts for the remainder of this week. We recommend prompt shipment of all but choice steers and heifers, as values will be lower in a short while. No immediate danger on choice grades.

Hog receipts 11,000. Market generally 10c lower than yesterday; quality only fair. On sale of choice heavies at $8.20, represents top. Most of the good heavies sold at $7.90 to $8.10; mixed and butchers $7.65 to $7.85; mixed packers $7.50 to $7.80. Good pigs $6.75 to $7.20; light pigs $5.50 to $6.50. We look for a further break in hog prices very soon, and recommend keeping good ones coming.

Sheep receipts 8500; market active and strong on all good sheep and lambs. Common to medium kinds slaw sale and mostly lower. Top spring lambs $8.50; top mutton sheep $5.00; something choice would have brought $5.25. Outlook steady.—National Livestock Commission Co.

Rev. Claggett will preach at the Quisenberry school house Sunday, June 26, at 4 p. m.

Quisenberry Union Sunday school observed Children's day last Sunday. The little folks rendered a splendid program to a large audience. The collection was the largest that we have ever had, and will be divided equally between the different churches represented for mission work.

STOTTS-ECKHOFF WEDDING

The Bridal Couple Departed for St. Louis Today.

The marriage of Charles F. Stotts, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Stotts, and a member of the firm of G. B. Stotts & Son, dry goods merchants, to Miss Edna M. Eckhoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Eckhoff, occurred at the home of the bride, on West Sixth street, at 11 o'clock this morning, the Rev. G. A. Robbins, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiating.

Only immediate relatives and a few outside friends attended the event, which was followed by a wedding dinner, and the couple left this afternoon for St. Louis to spend their honeymoon, after which they will be at home to friends at Mr. Stotts' recently erected home, 1020 West Fourth street.

June Harris at Joplin.

June Harris, the meat salesman, formerly of this city, but now of Joplin, has acquired quite a reputation as a vocalist at his new home, and a Sedalian there this week says few functions are considered complete in every detail unless Mr. Harris is present to sing one or more solos. Here's to June and his "Red Raven" ditty.

Colds that hang on weaken the constitution and develop into consumption. Foley's Honey and Tar cures persistent coughs that refuse to yield to other treatment. Do not experiment with untried remedies as delay may result in your cold settling on your lungs.—Arlington Pharmacy.

Successor Not Yet Named.

So far Circuit Clerk C. W. Daugherty has not yet appointed any one to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Deputy H. E. Carpenter, who on July 1 will enter the employ of Grant Crawford. It is possible that no appointment will be made until fall, as the work in that office is light during the summer months.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and led her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

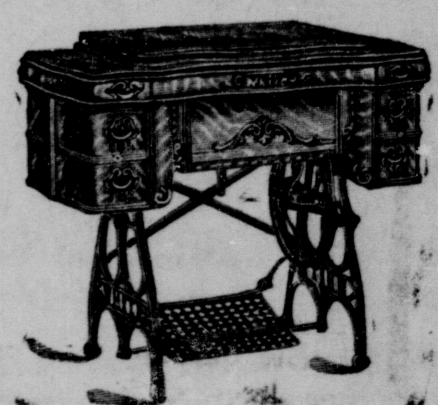

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

The Rotary White

Is one of the lightest running machines today.

WHY?

In the Rotary Principle we have a continuous movement in one direction, avoiding vibration, while in the old style machines the shuttle stops and starts twice for the completion of each stitch.
